VISITORS FROM NEWFOUNDLAND

Vice-President and Secretary of G.W.V.A. of That Dominion Call On Grimsby Friends.

Charles F. Gariand vice president of the G.W.V.A. of Newfoundland, and Herman W. Quinton, Dominion (Nfld.) secretary were guests at the Village Inn over the weekend.

Mr. Quinton's time is fully spent as secretary, but Mr. Gariand has to work for a living and labors as a member of the fourth estate on the St. John's, Newfoundland, Daily News and Weekly Free Press.

They came to Canada to join their Veteran brethren in meeting Earl Haig, and accompanied that warrior's party as far as Winnipeg.

Their primary object in visiting Grimsby, was to renew acquaintance with some friends of the gentler sex but while here they took advantage of the district to absorb the wonders of the fruit belt. Fruit does not grow in very great profusion in our neighbor colony and the Grimsby district was a great revelation to the visitors.

Egbert F. Hurst of The Thirty gave them one trip and it was a question whether their wonder was greater at how one man could handle hundreds of acres of fruit such as Gordon R. Carpenter's or R. A. Hunter's, or how a family could live on a ten-acre plot such as T. R. Hunter's, each of which places they visited—and incidentally added much fruit eating to their experience.

Both were enthusiastic over the district and are going to re-tell their views through the St. John's papers when they return home.

RETURNS FROM TRIP

George Mackay provincial constable has returned from his vacation trip.

Another of Pennsylvania's pioneer structures is about to give way to the demands of modern transportation. The old wooden bridge, which spans the Susquehanna River at Clark's Ferry and which is said to be the longest covered wooden bridge in the world, is to be replaced by a modern structure of concrete.

Georges Gattineau, grandson of Georges Clemenceau, formerly Prime Minister of France, is an automobile salesman in Seattle. He was personal secretary to his grandfather until joining the French army in 1915. He has taken out first papers to become an American citizen. The grandfather was a teacher in the United States during his period of banishment from France.

EDGAR J. WOOLVERTON WIDELY KNOWN FRUITGROWER DIES

One of Pioneers in Solving Marketing Problems—His Travels Had Beef Benefit To Industry—Was Popular in Buss and Socially—Retired From Business of Years Ago.

One of the most widely known and highly respected fruit men of Canada, Edgar Judson Woolverton, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. M. Fleming, on Friday, July 10th, 1925. Mr. Woolverton was the son of Dr. Jonathan Woolverton, one of the pioneer physicians of the district. E. J. Woolverton was born in Grimsby, January 29, 1841, the second of a family of five boys, three of whom have become widely known as members of the medical and dental professions—Dr. Solon Woolverton, of London, still living; Dr. Theodor Woolverton, for many years attached to the United States Navy; Dr. Algernon Woolverton, of Hamilton, and Delos of Toronto.

The late Mr. Woolverton had been more widely known as one of the pioneers in the fruit industry, he and a few associates spending much time and energy in the fruit-marketing problems in the early days of fruit growing in the Niagara belt. For many years he was president of the Niagara District Fruit Growers Stock company of which he was one of the founders and which for many years was the main marketing vehicle for fruit in this district. Up to some 20 years ago he was the head of E. J. Woolverton & Sons, but since that time had lived retired, spending much time in travel in different parts of the world. He married, Dec. 31, 1863, Ann Cecilia Nixon, daughter of Dennis Nixon, of Nixon hall and the same year built Echo hall, where he lived until the death of Mrs. Woolverton in June, 1907.

Though retiring from active business, he still held a keen interest in fruit marketing, and his annual trips to different parts of the world were additions to his fund of knowledge, which he disseminated to the advantage of the local fruit industry. Aside from the respect borne him in business, Mr. Woolverton was always a favorite with friends for his upright and lovable qualities. Surviving are three sons, Theodor, N. and Harold, of Grimsby; W. B. (Fred), of Orleans, Florida; and Mrs. Hamilton Fleming, of North Grimsby. Dr. Solon Woolverton, of London, a brother, also survives.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, July 12 from the residence of Hamilton Fleming to St. Andrew's Anglican church, where the Rev. J. A. Ballard conducted service, and later read the burial service in St. Andrew's cemetery. The pallbearers were: H. K. Griffith, Norman Nelles, Col. H. L. Roberts, E. O. Smith, W. E. Smith, C. Ernest Woolverton.

Among those present from outside points was the sole survivor of the late Dr. Solon Woolverton, a cousin, Dr. Walter Hough, a cousin, and Mrs. Hough of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Mrs. Woolverton, widow of the late Dr. Algernon Woolverton, who has just returned from Europe, Mrs. Frank T. Woolverton of New York City, and Mrs. Julia (A.G.) Pettit, a sister-in-law, probably the last survivor of the older generation who lived for so many years around Grimsby.

GOD MOVEMENT F REAL ESTATE

Seven Properties Change Hands In District—Palatial Home To Be Built.

If movement of real estate is an Indian, there is some prosperity looming.

Stain brothers of Winona have sold a beautiful twelve-acre property the highway near The Fifty to J. J. of Brampton, who takes possession in October.

G. Armstrong has sold a bungalow a 100 feet frontage in Lakeview to Mr. Dugvill of Hamilton.

R. Hawley, of Campden, has sold his lot to Mr. Hammell, of Sudbury.

J. Bergey, has sold his fruit farm near Smithville, to Mr. C. G. Melster, of Hespeler.

Tharold property on Nelles road has been sold and it is understood a palatial residence will be erected.

It is reported L. L. Hagar has sold thirty acres at Vinemount and eleven acres at Pattersons siding.

H. Angley has sold property on Nelles road to Wilson Sutherland.

George Marlowe has sold his lot on Maple avenue to Wallace Glintz.

GOOD CRICKET FIFTY YEARS AGO

Grimsby Team Defeats Ancaster By Twenty-Three Runs—Ancaster 95; Grimsby 118.

(By File)

A closely-contested game of cricket came off at Grimsby on Tuesday Day, between the Ancaster and Grimsby clubs. One innings each was played, resulting in favor of the latter by a score of 23; Ancaster 95; Grimsby 118.

Now if we were to add some of the names of the players that took part in that game, it would be interesting to old-time residents.

We have not the names but it is safe to mention a few who it is more than likely took part.

The game was played in 1875, and the above item is taken from "Fifty Years Ago" in the Hamilton Spectator, and among the names if we could sit in the old rail fence in front of where the old Walker's house now stands we would be able to pick out more than likely—William H. Bingle, William Fitch, Murray Fitch, Arthur VanDyke all still living in Grimsby, A. Hamilton Pettit, George C. Pettit, Phillip Gilray, B. R. Nelles, W. H. Nelles, James S. Randall, Joseph Snider.

Grimsby had a real cricket team in those days, and we have a recollection—not quite fifty years ago—but when here old timers played, and if we take the first four mentioned, add W. H. Pettit and a couple more, it is safe to say they would still put up a real game.

In the same column of the Spectator appears another item of advance in the Ambitious City, to wit:

The street cars have been furnished with a new patented whit-floored which is quite an ingenious contrivance. It is made of four or five strips of thin steel belted together like an old-fashioned baggy spring. This, when the car is started, gives slightly and prevents a jolt to the car and a jolt to the horse. The drivers speak very highly of it.

One could almost think from some of the street cars in Hamilton that the item was current news instead of fifty years ago.

And while we ponder over these "quaint and curious volumes" for "times long" Del Durham lays on the line an independent dated May 23, 1895. Among the items is one which reads: "When Art Henson, Robt. Hughes and Ed. Norton who have been working at the Stoney Creek basket factory, reached the factory on Tuesday morning they were informed that they would not be needed any longer as the frost on the previous night had blasted all hopes for a fruit crop in that section."

DENCH, FIREBUG, GETS HIS RELEASE

Sentence Is Suspended, But With Several Restrictions, By Judge Campbell.

John Albert Dench, Smithville, recently convicted of arson before County Judge J. S. Campbell, was given a suspended sentence by the Judge on July 10.

Under the terms of the suspended sentence Dench must sign a pledge that he will abstain from liquor for a period of five years; he cannot enter the Counties of Lincoln or Welland for a period of two years except on business or with permission of the crown attorney; he must report monthly by letter to the crown attorney and it was suggested to Mr. Pepler, his attorney, that Mrs. Dench report quarterly on his general behavior.

The Judge took a lenient view of the case because of excellent recommendations given by Sheriff McLaren of Simcoe, J. T. May, his father-in-law, Rev. J. S. McMullen, Rev. S. J. Falls and Rev. H. A. Welwood. The Judge also considered the fact that Dench had been in jail since May 21st.

The Judge advised Dench that he must appreciate the fact that he was being generously used.

Dench replied that he did not have words to express his appreciation.

The Judge then told Dench that he was following the course he had taken in order to assist Dench in working out his own reformation. He advised the prisoner that he could have sent him to prison for a long term, but he had dealt with the case with a desire to assist him in reforming.

Dench assured the Judge he would be good, and the Judge replied that sentence could be imposed if Dench did not live up to the agreement of suspension.

His wife had sent a letter offering bond for her husband's good behavior, she admitting she was partly to blame because she had not been living with him.

Following is an editorial in the St. Catharines Standard of Saturday, July 11:

Saving A Citizen

No one could read the suspended sentence terms imposed by Judge Campbell in the arson case of Dench in the County Court yesterday without appreciating the fact that His Honor had given the case the very closest study and thought. It was a mighty serious charge on which Dench was found guilty, that of burning up other people's property, and because he might have done it under the influence of liquor was certainly no excuse. But the humanely minded Judge took it to consideration that Dench might be a useful citizen to his country. Sentenced to a long term he would not be for years, and would probably never be restored to useful citizenship. Dench was simply put on probation, a very strict one. He was ordered to stay sober for five years, and if he stays for two, which he probably will, he will make it a lifetime.

Taken by and large, some of the so-called easy sentences passed out in Ontario courts to reform prisoners, do not reform them at all. They simply encourage criminal tendencies. In the Dench case, however, it can be seen where the Judge made personal investigation beyond the confines of the courtroom, and if Dench were a hard-boiled case, which it seems he is not, it would have been easier for him to have served a stiff sentence than carry out the terms laid down by Judge Campbell. Everyone hopes that Dench will make good as the

It must not be forgotten that His Honor Judge Campbell, rendered a stiff sentence, nevertheless, it enjoined the prisoner to work outside of prison walls in useful occupation to keep sober and to maintain his family. The slightest violation from a good conduct might mean to this man a long term in prison. The other sentence the Judge could have rendered was to put Dench "down for ten years, let the State keep him, and let the municipality keep his family."

A most interesting event is scheduled to take place on Saturday, Aug. 8, at the residence of Neison Chadwick, in Gainsboro township. It is a reunion of the Beamer family,—and their name is legion.

Away back in the history of the Niagara Peninsula do we read of the Beamers. The earliest record the writer has available is 1799—135 years ago. In that year, quoting from the records of Township No. 6 (which became the Township of Grimsby in 1795), we read:

"At a meeting of the inhabitants of Township No. 6, this fifth day of April, 1799, at the house of Mr. John Gress, according to an order from court and an advertisement for that purpose, the following persons were elected into the offices annexed to their names and presented to the honorable court for their confirmation. John Moore, Clerk; John Beamer, Constable x x x."

From then on John Beamer was connected with the council about every year until 1821, being town warden in 1812.

And there is probably no year in the history of Grimsby township but what some member of the Beamer family has held office up to very recent years.

This was but one branch of the Beamer family that settled in the wilderness of the district in those days. The Township of Gainsboro where this reunion is to be held has had another branch of the family from early times, that has likewise been known in public life.

The fifth, sixth, and seventh generations of these old settlers will surely form a large throng and will no doubt be gathered from many widely separated parts of the globe.

An unostentatious advertisement appears in the columns of The Independent this week which tells a simple story, but some interesting history will be told that day if Beamer family records are read.

FRETZ RE-UNION

A gathering of 275 members of the Fretz family, scattered throughout Louth and Clinton townships, in York county, and through various parts of Ontario, held its first reunion in Victoria Hall park, Vineland Station, on Saturday. Noon lunch was served in cafeteria style, following which a double program was carried out. One consisted of speeches and experiences of leading events in immigration and settlement, accompanied by community singing and music. The orchestra of four instruments, one of which was a musical saw, proved to be a grand success. The other program consisted of games on the Rittenhouse school grounds. Among leading speakers were: Chris. Fretz, president of the event; William Fretz, Vineland; M.R. Fretz, Markham, and Rev. Messrs. Kelly, Bricker, Schantz and Coffman. The second reunion will be held two years later. Organization resulted in the election of Chris Fretz, president, and J. C. Fretz, secretary-treasurer.

FACTS AND FANCIES BY FRANK FAIRBORN (Jas. A. Livingston)

Evolution Or?

At a trial in Dayton, Tennessee, nine of the jurymen were in their shirt sleeves. I would like to see them step into the jury box in their shirt sleeves, when Judge John S. Campbell was on the bench.

The trial in Tennessee is to discover whether man sprung from the monkey or the dust of the ground.

That's a point that can be argued for a hundred years without a decision being arrived at. The old-fashioned theory is good enough for me.

Contentious!

The first volume of Canada's official history of the war by Sir Andrew (Dr.) McPhail is out and it has already given rise to a lot of criticism.

Lieut.-Col. Bruce says in plain words that some of Dr. McPhail's statements are false.

So far as I have read the published extracts, they remind me of a newspaper reporter who instead of giving the facts of an event as they happened, gives his own opinions. An historian should simply give the facts and let the people draw their own conclusions.

The General Sam Hughes' controversy is revived and stern condemnation is given Valcartier and Salisbury Camps, and the supplies sent with the Canadian contingent.

Produce Properly First!

A movement is on foot at present to start a big advertising campaign to boom Canadian fruit. I was just wondering if the writers of the advertisements would specialize on half ripe Early Richmond Cherries, Green Grapes, Triumph Peaches, and the various kinds of useless plums. My idea is that no amount of advertising will popularize inferior fruit. Produce the goods then there will be something to advertise.

The trouble with our fruit business, lies, not in lack of markets, nor lack of dealers, but in lack of good ripe fruit, properly put up.

If an advertising campaign is put on the growers will have to produce good fruit to back up the advertising. What would be the sense of advertising delicious Cherries and then shipping half-ripe Early Richmonds?

Every year the Cherry market is ruined by the shipment of half-ripe Early Richmond Cherries. A million dollars spent in advertising would not make the people eat those green cherries.

Half the grape crop in the Niagara District is shipped out each year long before the grapes are ripe. Another million dollars spent in advertising grapes would not make the people pretend they liked green grapes.

You are working on the wrong end boys—the selling end. If you would spend half the time, thought, energy and money on the producing end that you spend on the selling end, you would not have to spend a dollar to sell your fruit.

It is rumored that there will be a Dominion election this fall. If so it would be a good time to do some talking along the line of reducing the membership of the House of Commons. I am fully convinced that there are twice as many men in the House of Commons as are required for the needs of the country, in fact, I would go so far as to say that one-third the number would do the work as efficiently and far cheaper than the present number do.

It is utterly impossible that each member in so large a number can do useful work and a man cannot do useful work why have him there? A hundred men certainly could do just as good work and do it quicker than the present number can.

It is said that the Senate is useless—possibly it is—but at least two-thirds of the members of the House of Commons are equally useless.

TRANSPORTATION

Hamilton, Ont., June 15, 1925.

To Editor of The Independent,
Dear Sir,—The Government's earnest effort to existing corporations to transport Canada's cattle to other products on overseas markets at reasonable rates seems to have failed.

Doesn't this bring us back to the old adage: if you want anything properly and well done, do it yourself? Which leads us up to some of the old work the "Canadian Government Merchant Marine" has done, and demonstrates her ability to further our ocean transportation problems.

A few more of the 10,000 ton type ocean liners would do the job.

Why does not the Government take over the Petersen ships now ready, and order eight more of the Deisel engines built in Canada at once, ready for the 1926 crop, which would accomplish the desired results. Just fancy the fall of the North Atlantic conference, announcing an increased cattle rate from 20 to 25 per head, instead of a reduction of $10 to the former rate of $14.

Newspapers again revive the fact that in 1916 the rate on the new Trans-Continental Railway from Montreal (presumably a point in the Western grain district) to Quebec was 6c per bushel on wheat, but owing to influences that developed, this rate was cancelled, and 20c substituted, which still exists.

Of course, the flow of wheat immediately stopped, and with it the Canadian Peoples' $170,000,000 investment in the best graded, constructed, and equipped long distance railway in the world, became two useless streaks of rust.

Sir Wilfred Laurier, the chief promoter of the Canadian Trans-Continental, on the report of experts estimated the rate of 6c as most practical.

Why boost the rate to 20c and get no business? Why not re-instate Sir Wilfred's rate of 6c and save 14c to the grain growers?

A saving of 10c on 400,000,000 bushels is $40,000,000 this season.

Why should we pay 20c when we could take it 1925 to Quebec, a year round ocean port, the largest, deepest, and fastest, on the American Continent.

Sir Wilfred had the ideas, but his various successors forgot to carry them out.

6 cents per bushel of 60 lbs. is 10c per cwt. on 22 per ton, and as coal freight classification is much lower than wheat, Alberta Coal could be brought to Toronto a slightly lesser distance, at $2 per ton, and New Scotia coal to Quebec and Eastern Ontario for slightly less. It is not too late to move now. In fact with this trans-continental rate, Pacific coast trade from hundreds of miles south, would come up to our trans-continental, thence to Quebec, Liverpool and Europe, via the shortest and cheapest route. This would demonstrate the advantage of a moderate rate, attracting an abundance, or perhaps a super-abundance of traffic.

The enlargement and extension of the Government Merchant Marine, would fix both inland and ocean rates via Canadian routes, the most advantageous in the world. Then watch Canada take her place in the forefront of the world.

With Canadian wheat the best in the world, only 6c to tide water, as compared with U.S. Wheat at 26c, a regiment of soldiers could not keep a million U.S. farmers out of Canada during the next year, and another million from Britain and other parts of the world, the choicest farmers without any immigration agents.

With Canadian cattle, the best in the world at $3 to Quebec or $2 to Britain, as compared with $13 from the U.S. West, the best stock raisers the world over would come here.

The St. Lawrence deep waterways and power development, will likely take years of international negotiation, before a real start is made.

Why doesn't Canada develop her own water powers on her own present canals at once, and get the benefit of power for her railways at a quarter the utility cost of coal. Why not attach power development to the completed part of the new Welland Canal, and save enough money to pay for the whole canal before it is completed?

If the U.S. is in no hurry to develop the St. Lawrence deep waterways, why should Canada worry? With a 6c rail rate on wheat from the prairies to Quebec, and trans-shipmenters and Government Marine insuring reasonable ocean rates.

Why adjourn Parliament with so much urgent unfinished business on hand?

Why talk election, when the present Parliament has a year or two yet to run?

Every present member still has a mandate to deal with all these questions.

Yours truly,

W. O. SEALEY

IF WINTER COMES

(Meosp. Wis., Chronicle.)

It is reported that one of the fastidious new married ladies of town kneads bread with her gloves on. This incident may be somewhat peculiar, but there are others. The editor of the paper needs bread with his shears on; he needs bread with his shirt on; he needs bread with his pants on; and unless some delinquent subscribers to this Old Rag of Freedom pony a before long, he will read bread without a shirt, and Wisconsin is no Garden of Eden in the winter time.

Notes and Comments On Current Events

(By PETER PETERKIN)

Last month the writer had occasion to use the Metropolitan lines running out from Toronto quite frequently. They give an excellent service, but the fares are higher than the suburban lines running out Hamilton and they are losing money fast, having lost $200,000 behind last year according to their own report. The Toronto Transportation Company is anxious to take some of these lines over from the Hydro Commission, claiming that they can operate them much more cheaply, but so far they have not succeeded in gaining the Hydro's consent to the change.

For the first time since the T.T.C. took over the Toronto street railway system the detailed report of last year's operations shows a balance on the right side of the ledger, on which the T.T.C. deserve congratulations. Their report is a model of clearness and shows every detail of their business to the Toronto public, so that he who runs can read. If the Hydro Commission would only issue to the Ontario public a similar clear detailed statement of their financial and their operations every year, much of the prevalent dissatisfaction with Hydro methods would disappear.

In the matter of selecting a jury when a criminal case is to be tried an immense gulf lies between British and American methods. In England, for instance, no matter how wealthy or politically powerful the defendant may be the proceedings are somewhat as follows: The names of twelve men are drawn. The judge then asks these men a few pointed questions.

The barristers appearing for the crown and the defendant perhaps object to one or two jurors whom they consider likely to show bias, and if the objections are sustained these jurors are promptly replaced. The whole process takes about half an hour and the results are infinitely superior to those attained in the United States where the pitiable farce of selecting a jury may take six weeks or even six months, when the defendants are sufficiently wealthy.

According to recent reports from Shanghai the whole question is now being investigated by a commission from Peking. A strong and intelligible national sentiment appears to have arisen of late amongst the educated Chinese. This sentiment is unfortunately being exploited by foreign agitators—chiefly Russia Bolsheviks—for their own ulterior designs, and is being systematically directed against Great Britain.

American diplomats appear to have taken a wrong view of the case being infinitely less experienced in the ways of the East as compared with Great Britain. It is very much the opium case all over again. Great Britain refused to place an embargo on opium exported from India over which she had almost complete control, on the grounds that greater quantities of opium would be smuggled in from China over which she would have no control, and neither would China, there having been no such thing as a settled government there for a great many years past and apparently little hope of any for a long time to come. China's troubles are mainly due—as is so commonly the case with most people who have troubles—to the Chinese themselves, who are only now slowly awakening from the slumbering stagnation of centuries. The great mass of the people still remaining incredibly ignorant of conditions outside of a very limited range in even their own country. Russia's awakening was attended with terrible results, it is to be hoped that China's awakening may not follow a similar course. In the meantime it is simply fantastic to suppose that Great Britain has any imperialistic purpose whatever in China.

Household Clearance

Many a prudent housewife has found it profitable to call upon Independent Want Ads to effect a household clearance sale.

In many homes there are stored away disused articles of household equipment, sewing machines, baby carriages, articles of furniture and even personal apparel and other individual things—all of which may be turned into ready cash.

By taking advantage of The Independent Want Ads, a market may be developed for all used articles that may have any intrinsic value.

A household clearance sale, conducted through Independent WANT ADS has been the means of ridding many a household of discarded articles.

Is This Your Way?

There has come in recent years a very definite swing of the pendulum back to the rich preserves of our grandmothers. Our mothers were carried away by the novelty, convenience and keeping qualities of glass canned fruit and the war with its scarcity of sugar kept us faithful to the almost unsweetened fruit, but now we are changing. Certain fruits we find are more appetizing in appearance and richer in flavor if preserved. Keeping the fruit whole and "sightly" in the clear, firm jellied syrup, and yet having it tender, was almost a lost art among careless housewives. Even for those who have among their most treasured possessions genuine old recipe books telling, in delicate tracery or old-fashioned hand-writing, the secrets of success in preparing delectable "sweet-and-sour", considerable common-sense, reasoning and careful study of nature of the fruit to be preserved will be necessary.

When raspberries, strawberries or any of the small, juicy, ripe berries are put directly into syrup and cooked sufficiently to form preserves, the result is far from good looking. To preserve fruit in comparatively whole and attractive form and color make hot syrup by adding a little water to the sugar—that has been measured pound for pound to preserve the fruit—and as the syrup boils, skim it carefully, until the syrup is clear. Then add the berries and cook slow until thoroughly cooked through and under Small fruits are dropped directly into the boiling syrup, and when done are carefully skimmed out to avoid breaking.

The syrup is then boiled down to the right consistency for preserves and poured over the fruit, or the fruit is carefully added to the thick syrup; and when the whole is boiling hot it is quickly sealed in glass jars.

When cooked down to a thick preserve, these sweets can be kept in glasses, or small jars, the same as jelly with only a covering of paraffin over the top, before slipping on the tin cap or paper covering. But sealing in air-tight jars is better for the "sightly" preserves, where the fruit is retained as whole as possible in the thick clear syrup. Do not put away the sealed jars until cold. Give an extra turn to the cover, and wrap in manilla paper before setting them away in the preserve closet.

Ripe, sour cherries make the most delicious preserves of any of the small fruits; but there is also a "little trick" in keeping them at their best in form and taste. After carefully stoning the cherries, keeping their form apparently whole and unbroken, allow an equal weight of sugar. Sprinkle the sugar over the fruit and let it stand about an hour before cooking. Drain off the juice and boil it slowly about fifteen minutes, skimming until it is perfectly clear; then add the cherries and cook slowly until they are tender, and the preserve is thick and clear, and seal in small jars while hot.

Raspberry Time

Raspberry Puffs: One half-cup butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons sweet milk, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder. Put four cups. Put 1-4 of the above batter in each cup, and steam 1-2 hour. Serve with any liquid sauce.

Raspberry Flams: Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff. Add half a cup of powdered sugar and beat again. Then add a cup of mashed raspberries, put through a sieve, and beat until you have a "flum" light as snow. This may be served in a glass bowl or in individual glasses with a fresh raspberry on each.

Raspberry Ice Cream: 1 quart raspberries, 1 cupful milk, 1 cupful sugar, 3 cupfuls cream. Scald the milk and cream and dissolve the sugar in it. Cool. Mash the berries and add to the above mixture. Freeze.

Baked Raspberry Dumplings: Two cupfuls red raspberries, two cupfuls flour, half cupful milk, one and one-half tablespoonsful of butter, one and one-half tablespoonsful sugar, one teaspoonful baking powder, half teaspoonful of salt. Sift the flour, salt sugar and baking powder into a bowl, rub in the butter, add the milk, using a little more, if necessary, and mix quickly into a dough as soft as can be handled. Roll out into a sheet about one fourth of an inch in thickness, cut into six or eight squares, put a portion of the berries in the centre of each, sprinkle with a teaspoonful sugar, then pinch the edges close together. Put the dumplings in a granite baking pan, a slight distance apart; drop over them one tablespoonful of butter cut into bits, sprinkle with one cupful of ginger and pour one cupful of boiling water around them. Bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty or twenty-five minutes and serve with a liquid sauce flavored with raspberry, lemon or nutmeg.

Raspberry Hard Sauce: Work one-half cupful of butter until creamy and add one and one-half cupfuls of confectioners' sugar very gradually, while stirring and beating constantly; then add one-fourth cupful of raspberry syrup very slowly, beating well. Add a few ripe berries to garnish this sauce and serve it with plain boiled rice, a cottage pudding or dumplings.

Sugarless Canned Berries: Raspberries, Blackberries, Blueberries, etc., should be hulled and stemmed and, if necessary, washed. Pack loosely in sterilized jars. Shake these down to ensure a full pack but do not crush the fruit. Pour in boiling water to completely fill the jars. Put on rubbers and tops, but do not tighten the tops completely. Leave them just a little loose to allow the steam which accumulates inside the jar to escape. If a spring-topped jar is used, leave the side spring up. Place the filled jars in the boiler on the false bottom, with enough warm—not hot—water to come about three-quarters way up the jars. Cover the boiler with a close-fitting lid, bring the water to a boil and continue to boil (or sterilize) for 10 minutes. Remove boiler-lid, let steam escape for a moment, then tighten tops and remove from the boiler. Invert to cool, in order to watch for any defects in the sealing. Store in the dark.

Raspberry Apple Jelly: Use for this the earliest windfalls, taking one pint of raspberry juice to two pints of apple juice and a scant pound of sugar for each pint of juice. For raspberries and currants, eight quarts of raspberries and six pounds of sugar. Clean and wash currants; cook them one hour and strain; return juice to kettle, add sugar; heat to boiling point and cook slowly twenty minutes. Add raspberries, a quart at a time, skimming them off into jars as fast as the syrup reaches the boiling point with each quart. Fill jars to overflowing with syrup, and seal.

Raspberry Jelly: For this the berries must be fresh and not too ripe. Pick over the berries, wash and drain, wash, cook slowly until they look white; strain through a jelly bag without squeezing. Measure juice, boil five minutes, add an equal quantity of water and cook three minutes, strain and pour into glasses. Let stand twenty-four hours in a sunny window or on a tray set on the plate warmer before covering. Half currant juice with half raspberry juice is more certain to jelly.

Our Diamond Princess

Princess Mary (Victoria), who celebrates her birthday recently, narrowly escaped having her age entered in her name. "My dear little Diamond Jubilee Baby" Queen Victoria called her because of her arrival just before that famous celebration, and King Edward for the same reason desired to have her named "Diamond." After due consideration, however, this was considered too great a departure from tradition in royal nomenclature and the Princess was christened Victoria Alexandra Alice Mary.

Away from the heated Town

Ontario's Highways are a welcoming challenge to you

Somewhere a vagrant breeze rustles through orchards and grain fields—somewhere nestling lakes are rippling in laughter—somewhere there is happy health and freedom—and you can find them all in a motor trip in Ontario.

There is a good road to follow. You don't need to stay on the provincial highways. The county roads in most parts of the Province are in fine condition and lead to beauty spots you do not know.

Take a few days off in your car. Take the family with you. In every direction you will see wonderful scenery—rivers and lakes—hills and valleys—beautiful farm country and beautiful towns.

Ontario's highways are a welcoming challenge to you and other motorists. Use them, but use them sanely.

See the country as you go. Drive moderately. You cannot make any speed records, although you may break speed limits. Your fast driving tears up the road surface which you and other users of the roads must replace. There is no magic about road repair work. It costs hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, and the money comes out of your pocket and those of your neighbours. In your own interest you should be careful about needlessly doing damage.

The Government is certain of the co-operation of most users of the roads by driving at moderate speeds as provided by the law. Those who omit to comply with the law and this request, should understand that the enforcement of the law will not be relaxed in any respect.

An advertisement issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists and truck drivers, Automobile Clubs, Good Roads Associations and all other public spirited bodies, in abating the abuse of the roads of the Province.

The HON. GEO. S. HENRY, Minister; S. L. SQUIN, Deputy Minister

WHEN USING WILSON'S FLY PADS

READ DIRECTIONS CAREFULLY AND FOLLOW THEM EXACTLY

There is only one way to kill all the Flies

This is it—Darken the room as much as possible, close the windows, raise one of the blinds where the sun shines in, about eight inches, place as many Wilson's Fly Pads as possible on plates (properly wetted with water but not flooded) on the window ledge where the light is strong, leave the room closed for two or three hours, then sweep up the flies and burn them. See illustration below.

Put the plates away out of the reach of children until required in another room.

SWIFT-MARLOWE

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, July 8, at Grimsby Beach, when Florence, only daughter of James and the late Mrs. Marlowe, was united in marriage to Earl R. Swift, B.Sc. Burlington. The bride looked charming in ivory crepe de chine, with tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. The bride entered the drawing-room with her father, and was attended by little Francis Ward and Francis Kemp as ribbon bearers, they being dressed in fluffy white dresses carrying baskets of Sweetheart roses and baby's breath. Harold Kemp played the wedding march, and Miss Vera Brownlee sang while the register was being signed.

After the wedding a reception was held. Mrs. William Dunn, aunt of the bride, received with the bride's father. Mrs. Dunn wore a black lace gown and hat to match. Mrs. Swift, mother of the groom, wore black crepe de chine dress and mauve hat. The happy couple left on the evening train for Muskoka and Upper Lakes. The bride's traveling dress was of gray crepe meteor tulle, mauve hat and grey shoes. One of town guests were from Oakville Toronto, Port Rowan Hamilton, Fenelon, Hagersville, Stratford and Burlington.

OPTOMETRY

It's value to the public.
By VERNON TUCK, R.O.
Grimsby, Ontario

Country and city children need the Optometrist. Country and city grownups need him. All men and women who reach middle life should assist their eyes with glasses when they read, sew or do other close work.

Then there is a large class of people whose eyes are almost or quite normal, but whose work throws undue strain on the eyes, who should get the help of glasses during working hours.

The above further discloses the value of Optometry to the public, or rather, the public need of the profession.

CIVIC HOLIDAY WILL BE ON AUG. 5

Council Asked To Proclaim That Date—First Tax Instalment Will Be 37 Mills

The postponed regular meeting of the town council was held on Thursday night, with Mayor James A. Livingston in the chair and Reeve Ed. Mannell, Aldermen St. John, Bird, Moxley and Durham present. Three permits were before the council to be passed on: A store front of wood, steel and copper for the A. F. Hawke store, to cost $900; a new house on Maple avenue, for W. Glantz, to cost $2,500, and a new house on Main street west, for L. A. Bromley, to cost $2,500, were dealt with, and the usual permission to proceed granted.

The assessment on the first installment of taxes was next taken up, and the council had no other alternative but to set the rate at 37 mills. The rate last year for the first call was only 31½ mills but the debentures for the paving laid on the Main street, and debentures for the land purchased for the new high school, besides other smaller loans, fall due this year, making it necessary to raise the tax rate high enough to meet all these debentures. It was suggested that the extra mills be put on the December instalment but the council thought that the higher rate could be paid better on the first call.

It was moved by Reeve Mannell and Moxley that all taxes must be in by August 15, 1925.

The fire department sent a committee to the council asking to have Aug. 5 proclaimed civic holiday. After some discussion this was decided upon, the mayor to issue a proclamation to this effect.

This committee also asked to have streets roped off leading to Mountain street between Main and Elm, for two nights, July 23 and 24, which was granted.

It was moved by Aldermen Moxley and Durham that the assistant clerk be bonded for $1000. Accounts were passed totalling $431.63.

PROTECTION FOR LEVEL CROSSING

As a protection for foot and vehicular traffic at the intersection of Station road and the C. N. R. main line at Winona, the board of railway commission of Canada has ordered that cautionary road signs be erected at each approach to the crossing. A letter to this effect was received by the Saltfleet township council at its meeting last week, and was in reply to a communication forwarded by the council to the commissioners at the time of the Patrick Hand fatality. The Saltfleet councillors asked for adequate protection, and suggested either wigwag automatic signals or a watchman, but the board in its answer considered signs would meet requirements. It was advised that the township obtain these from the highways department.

After some discussion the council decided to advise the board that this was not an ordinary crossing, and that protection other than signs would be necessary to reduce the danger. Mention will be made of the fact that the victims in the last two fatalities at the crossing were residents of Winona and well acquainted with the surroundings. Signs in both of these cases, it was felt would have been useless.

HACKED-DOWN MOUNTAIN

The engine of a motor car going up the Grimsby mountain, about 12 o'clock Saturday night, went dead. The brakes were not working well, and the car started hacking down, turning at Oak street, which is very dark at this spot. The car went into the deep ditch, turning completely over. Fortunately, none of the occupants, who were Hamilton people, were hurt. The glass in the side of the car was badly broken.

Obituary

JOHN H. KENNEDY

Known and respected for many years by all classes of citizens of Beamsville and Clinton township, John Henry Kennedy passed quietly away at the home of his son on Monday evening, July 6. He was in his 84 year. There were few of the earlier residents of Beamsville who had a clearer recollection of the first history of the village and its settlers than the deceased. He had spent practically all his life here, and his greatest enjoyment was the depicting of old-time events, and he had a colorful way of summing these up. His mind was keen until some few months ago, and he took an active interest in all the affairs of the day. Two sons, John W., of Beamsville, and L. H., in California, and two daughters, Mrs. E. D. Bryant, of Detroit, and Mrs. F. H. Harris, of Akron, Ohio, survive. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon to Mount Osborne cemetery.

THIS CREAMERY HAS GOOD BUTTER

Crock Packed Twenty Months Ago Tests Perfect—Same Brand of Butter Sold In Grimsby.

On October 12, 1923 a housewife from Hamilton had a crock of butter packed at the Caledonia Dairy, Limited. The lady evidently forgot to call for the butter, and it is still kept for her at the dairy, being now 21 months old.

On June 26, W. P. Jones, Dominion chief of dairy manufacture, was in attendance of Mrs. Young's uncle. They the Caledonia Dairy, passing judgment on a carload of butter to be exported to London, Eng. After scoring the car of butter, which by the way scored 40 points for flavor, with a total score of 93 points for the entire lot, Mr. Jones was asked to score the crock of old butter. The result was 38½ points for flavor, with a total score of 91½ points, which means that it was just one-half point off from still being a first-grade butter.

"Very remarkable," was Mr. Jones' comment on this. This butter was taken from a churning out of the general run, and has not had special care during these months, being kept at a temperature of 20 and at other times 50 to 60 degrees above zero. Who dares say that Ontario butter will not keep for a long time without getting strong?—Hamilton Spectator.

BOOK REUNION

The third annual gathering of the Book's took place at Murray Wilcox's, Clinton township, on Saturday, July 4th. The day was not an ideal one, but over eighty were present.

A short program was given and new officers elected as follows:—J. H. Book, president; Alonzo Strong, secretary; Mrs. Joe Lindaberry, Mrs. D. W. Nichols, Mrs. J. H. Book, John Book, Allan Honsberger and James Zimmerman, committee.

Allan Honsberger was chosen chairman and the following selections given:—Speech by president, instrumental Miss Nichols, community singing, speech by John H. Book, recitation by Marie Book, duet by Mrs. J. H. Book and E. W. Book, speech by D. W. Nichols, recitation by Elsie Cox, solo by Mrs. Fairbrother, speech by Wm. Book, violin solo by Miss J. Walker, recitation by Frank Book, speech by H. Brown, song by Willard Book, speech by Mr. McIntyre, of Brantford, who recalled being on the Wilcox homestead some 61 years ago.

The happy gathering closed with God Save The King, after which all parted, hoping to meet another year and thanking Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox and family for the good time.—Beamsville Express.

AN INTERESTING METAMORPHOSIS

And this from the editorial page of the staid Smithville Review:

Attention men! The female of the species, not content with the havoc she has already wrought, is now planning to keep the men awake at night and drive 'em wild. The German dye workers, aided and abetted by the sirens and flappers of all nations, are enlisted in this diabolical drive. Lightning-bug stockings are about to cause riots along Berlin's fashionable thoroughfares and spread over the face of the earth.

Tired of silk in the ordinary colors, the Berlin girls have fallen for the latest invention of the dye experts, stockings treated with phosphorus which glow in the dark. They're so practical, their wearers say. No one wearing these luminous oddities ever falls down stairs in the dark, for they're much better than a pocket flashlight. Some say they wear them to save the electric light bill.

In the daytime the "lightning bugs" look just like any other stockings.

But at night, oh, boy! they blossom forth—embroidered in various shades of violet and green, and sparkle like gems.

We thought the limit had been reached with short skirts, rolled stockings and sleeveless gowns, but now she comes along with a stunt that will make men sleep shouldered.

There should be a lot more money in circulation now that the Home Bank directors have been freed.

GRASSIE NEWS

A Southward of Grassie and a party last night at the home of Mrs. William Crown, Forks Road, where they enjoyed one of the best programs yet. There was a large crowd present and the receipts were $93.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Southward made trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y. on Saturday and called on a number of friends among whom was Harvey Campbell the old-time Grimsby Centennialist. Mr. Campbell's many friends here will regret to learn that he is in very poor health and is leaving for Michigan where he will undergo treatment for rheumatism.

and we must tell you one and all that the searchlights at Niagara Falls are magnificent and it is worth the trip for any who have not seen them.

WELLANDPORT'S CLAIM TO FAME

Bill Hockey Fry of Dunnville nor Louis Football Blake Duff of Welland, not even both of them—seem able to keep Wellandport before the public, so that town has to get into the south-east corner of The Globe.

The Globe is a great advertising medium but Wellandport would have done better to have had a picture of Canboro avenue, looking east, with Len Durham or Dilly C. Holmes in the foreground. The despatch to The Globe says:

"Wellandport, July 8.—The little hamlet of Wellandport has stood patiently by and read with interest the strange and wonderful happenings of other towns and villages throughout the Dominion.

"It now believes itself worthy of a place in The Globe's southeast corner, owing to the fact that a Plymouth Rock hen on the farm of Walter A. Wilson has adopted as the daily depository for her produce a robin's nest in the orchard. These will doubtless be the largest eggs Mrs. Redbreast has ever tried to hatch."

The manufacture of artificial silk, an industry which is the creation of yesterday, already gives employment to 150,000 people in the United Kingdom and is one of the big factors in Britain's export trade.

YOU SHOULD KNOW HOW TO KEEP FIT WHILE YOU ARE ON A TOUR

Always Be Ready For Accidents and Emergencies, So That When Occasion Comes You Will Be in a Position To Render Suitable and Efficient Service.

(C. P. FORDYCE, in "Motor Life.")

The vacation tour brings to the average sedentary exactly what is needed for proper recuperation—fresh air, sunshine, exercise and a stimulated mental outlook. In fact, the health building value of the outdoor life is its greatest asset. Touring outdoors takes the tired business man from his unvarying routine and insufficiency of physical activity and puts red blood coursing through his system and vigor into his whole being, the homemaker leaves the gray-day drudge of the four walls of home and is refreshed by new scenes and rested from the anxieties of daily life, and to the kiddies it is a great joy ride amidst wondrous sights and play in a new environment.

After leaving the security and routine of home life with its established habits, known purity of water, proper food, and equable temperatures you should, when on tour, pay particular attention to rigid hygiene, for your system is easily upset by the necessitated change. The new program of eating at all sorts of places with varying excellence of food, of drinking water which is in the main potable but oftentimes disease-carrying, indulging in unwonted exercise with its resultant fatigue, of being annoyed by insects and subjected to radical variations of temperature, are changes to which the traveler must adapt himself.

Ready For Emergencies

Besides the possible health hazards, the outdoor traveler must always be ready to handle accident emergencies. To be sure, these are infrequent, but when they do occur they are sufficiently important that first aid treatment is imperative. In many emergencies of the outdoors had proper care been given at the very outset, before a doctor could be reached, much distress and occasionally serious complications might have been averted. Everyone should know the fundamental principles of first aid care; they are simple and easily learned—the great point is to use them at the right time.

The deeper you go into the wilderness the more proficient should you be in the care of sickness and injury. But even on the heavily traveled highways your knowledge of first aid may be called into use, and you may be able to apply life-saving measures to one of your loved ones. For instance—a collision between two cars occurred near a town and the broken windshield badly cut one member of the party. He lost a dangerous amount of blood before the doctor arrived simply because no one had the presence of mind or did not know how to check the hemorrhage.

You should know how to apply a bandage, how to treat common wounds, to prevent blood poisoning, how to stop bleeding, what to do in cases of fainting and shock, and how to resuscitate a person apparently drowned, how to remove a foreign body from the eye, how to rescue one in contact with a "live" wire, and how to treat snakebite and poisoned wounds. Your simple medicaments will in most cases avert serious consequences in ptomaine poisoning, colds, intestinal disturbances, poison ivy and sunstroke.

First aid does not take the place of the physician, but prevents serious complications until he gets to the scene. Most minor accidents do not require the ministrations of a physician, but unless they are properly cared for may develop serious complications. We strongly urge a study of a good first aid manual—the Handbook of Travel, published by the Harvard Press, Cambridge, Mass., and "First Aid to Injuries," Miscellaneous Publication No. 17, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, are ideal for the purpose.

Cool Headedness

The first requisite in a good first-aid helper is cool headedness. He must avoid the panic which caused an occupant of a small town hotel, which caught fire, to throw the water pail out of the window and carry the pillows downstairs under his arms. The first-aid should make a rapid but careful examination of the injured person to ascertain if the injury is serious or delusively trifling. If the seriousness of it warrants it, call a doctor at once. Place the patient in a cool place over the wound. Don't get frightened if the patient appears to have "passed out"—the chances are that he has only fainted. I know of nothing else which so alarms the inexperienced panicky bystanders. Lay the injured one down with his head below the level of his hips (to get the blood to rush to the head), loosen the clothing about the neck and dash cold water in his face; if you have some aromatic spirits of ammonia, pour a little on a cloth and hold to his nose. That will bring him to nine out of 10 times and he will soon willingly open his eyes and ask what it is all about.

The first aid kit, which most people never bother to take along, yet which is worth its weight in gold when needed, should contain at least the essentials for treating common medical and surgical emergencies. Such outfits are now made especially for auto travelers and they are compact enough to slip into the pocket of the car door. One good kit has the following surgical supplies: Absorbent cotton 1/2 ounce, sterile gauze 1 yard, a two-inch bandage, antiseptic tablets, ampules of iodine, a tube of analgesic balm, a tube of simple ointment such as vaseline, a tube of boric acid, an Esmarch triangular bandage, a roll, 1 inch by 5 yards of Z. O. adhesive plaster, forceps, scissors, a lance (a safety razor blade) makes an ideal emergency lance) and safety pins; the ideal supplies in this outfit are: a vial of aspirin, laxative pills (your favorite), halosone water, bluish subspirits of ammonia, the new palatable gallate tablets, ampules of aromatic, Epsom salt, and if you can think of anything else which you must have to include it or you will be unprepared without it. I also suggest a treatment for sunburn and a mosquito repellent.

Sun Glare

The majority of travelers are indoors and when they go outdoors their eyes are not accustomed to sunlight. Amber goggles are quite the best and are entirely effective in protecting the eyes from the actual rays of the sun and flying dirt particles. Hudson Stuck, the conqueror of McKinley in Alaska, taught us the wisdom of amber (brown) goggles as a protection from the actual rays of the sun. They are extremely useful on the snowslopes, but even a summer tour is something to consider when touring anywhere. The face can be protected from the sun and the harshness of the wind by anointing the exposed parts with a oily substance or a grease—cold cream, vaseline, cosmoline and unguentum are all good. Sunburn is treated like any other first degree burn with unguentum. The U. S. Public Health service recommends a lotion made as follows: "Take a half pint of hot water and stir into it a level tablespoonful of boric-acid powder; then add 20 drops of carbolic acid and shake well. The solution should be rubbed on the inflamed skin with a small piece of cotton every half hour if necessary." I would add a tablespoonful of glycerine to the above mixture to help the mixture of the skin.

While we are on the subject of skin affections we might as well dispose of insect fire burns, scalds, mosquito bites and poison ivy. When on the road there is possible danger from a gasoline fire, and if you motor camp there is the camp stove, the open camp fire and scalds from steam or hot water as causative agents. The gravity of a burn depends upon its location and more upon the amount of surface covered than the depth of the burn. It is well known that if one-half of the body surface is burned it is generally fatal. In bad burns, there is an additional condition called "shock".

Cold Water Packs

In small burns apply cold water packs and cover with vaseline or unguentum or other grease spread on cloth like you would butter bread. Blisters are opened with needle or pin which has been heated red in a match flame.

Severe extensive burns, accompanied by shock, are treated by keeping the patient quiet, covering the body with blankets and aiding this warmth with hot water bottles and stimulating with strong hot black coffee or aromatic spirits of ammonia—a teaspoonful to a half cup of water and a teaspoonful of this every 20 minutes. Remove clothing from the burned area, soaking it loose if need be by pouring on tepid salt water a teaspoonful to the half cup of water) and dressing the burn with unguentum or vaseline. The newer treatment with hot paraffin spray is too complicated for the layman.

Mosquito pests are always annoying and they sometimes carry disease. A good repellent to be applied to the skin of the face and hands is composed of oil of citronella 1 ounce, spirilis of camphor one ounce and oil of cedar 1/2 ounce. Poison ivy (Rhus toxicodendron) is a climbing vine with three pointed leaves on each stem, which causes, with some people, a red rash with itching and swelling, and then blisters develop. The poisoning chiefly affects the face, hands and ankles. The treatment is to bathe often with strong solution of either common soda or Epsom salts, or plain water if you do not have the others. Blisters should be opened.

Take No Chances

The day is past when any lake or stream can be depended upon to yield pure drinking water unless it is the wilderness or near springs. I look with doubt upon the average home pump and one cannot afford to take a chance. Most typhoid epidemics are traced to a contaminated drinking water supply. The average motor tourist is equipped with the half-moon shaped water cans carried on the running board or the efficient desert water-bag—the latter preferable because it cools the water. One enthusiast, when touring over the country, fills his water can at county-seat municipal water supplies only. The simplest way to purify questionable water is to boil it thoroughly, for at least 15 minutes. If you then pour it into the desert water-bag and place it in a breeze, the water which saturates

BEAMSVILLE WILL HAVE SPORTS DAY

Next Saturday Clinton and Louth Agricultural Society has Races and Softball Program.

A good days sport is on the card for next Saturday, July 18, at the Fair grounds in Beamsville when a Soft Ball tournament between Jordan, Vineland, The Thirty and Beamsville will be put on, and three good horse races—2.16, 2.22 and 2.40 Classes—will be sandwiched. Already several good ones are entered and the people will sure get a run for their money.

SPORTS AT STONEY CREEK AUGUST 12

It has been decided that Saltfleet's annual field day this year will be arranged by the Stoney Creek Athletic association instead of by the parks board, as formerly, and Wednesday, August 12, has been set as the date. At a meeting of the association on Friday night, Theo McCombs was elected chairman of the general field day committee; W. S. Milne, chairman of the sports committee; Dick Bland, entertainment, and J. A. Walker, grounds committee. The program will be similar to those of former years and will open at 9 o'clock in the morning with baseball games and close with a musical entertainment and garden party in the evening. Games, contests, drawings, baby show, races and other attractive events will feature the afternoon program.

ANOTHER IN ONE

Toronto, July 13.—Alex. Gooderham scored the third hole in one at the Rosedale Club this season on Saturday, July 11, when he negotiated the short sixteenth from the tee. The other two similar feats have also been made on this hole. Gooderham was playing with Joe Sullivan, who had the hard luck to lose the hole with a two.

FIRE PROTECTION UP TO PEOPLE

Concerning the movement to obtain fire protection for Stoney Creek, the council decided to submit the question at once to the people, and it is likely the vote will be taken within the next month. Ratepayers in the section bounded by Webster's side road to the west, the lake shore to the north, Connon's side road to the east, and the mountain to the south, only will be called to the polls, as this is the district which would receive protection. John Clough, chairman of the residents' fire committee, submitted to the council a report which suggested this action.

HOW CALIFORNIA STRIKES SOME

The Booster Club of California asks you to write back east to your friends telling the truth about that part of the country, and one lady, who signs herself "Betsey O.K.," has complied, as follows:

I came to the land of the western sun. Where every business is overdone. Where the stores charge freight for the goods made here. Ask them the reason, they think you queer.

They serve you climate with all your meals. It is so blamed hot your back just peels.

The Ananias Club includes the State from San Diego to the Golden Gate. The movie stars marry twice a year; They would marry again if they were clear.

The grape fruit here is very fine. Crossed between lemon and pumpkin vine.

The cows eat barley instead of hay. And the cream gets lost in the milky way.

They sell you lots that are made by hand; The ocean breeze is something grand—

That is included with the price of land. They weigh the sack and then the fruit.

They weigh it again and the hand to boot. They claim it is wet if it rains once a year;

It is so dry you can't shed a tear. The chickens have mites and the dogs have fleas.

The desert wind blows and the oranges freeze. We shovel sand and you shovel snow—

Just about a standoff far as I know. So tune up your flivver and start for the west.

Where jobs are scarce and wages are less. Bring all your cash and plenty of clothes.

When you get any more the Lord only knows. I am telling this story which I know is true.

As seen by me through eyes of blue. If the Booster Club ever gets this back,

They will change my eyes from blue to black; They ask you to write the truth to a friend.

Now I have done so and this is the end.

The famous draft manuscript of Napoleon's stirring appeal to his army in Italy in his own handwriting was sold at auction recently in London for $750. Three letters which Napoleon dispatched to Admiral Ganteaume, on August 15, 1798, upon learning of the Nile disaster were disposed of for $370.

This new nine-story hotel, occupying the ground space of an entire city block, was taken over from the contractors two weeks before Pacific Railway. It is the new at a cost of two million dollars and 6,500 feet up is the Canadian Rockies.

To equip this new hotel and stock on June 1, 500 beds, 300 bathrooms, 200 desks for rooms, with sheets and other equipment to match, had to be transported three and a half miles to be stocked in the hotel the day before opening. The perishable food, which had 18 whole lamb, 12 whole hogs, 1,000 pounds of new cabbage, 40 cases of grape fruit, and 20 cases of fresh spinach. Approximately 7,000 eggs had to be rushed from the Canadian Pacific supply house at Stathmore, Alberta, and placed in refrigerators.

Of the other furnishings, five tons of potatoes, 300 sacks of flour, 20 tons of sugar, 8,000 pounds of butter, one ton of tea and a thousand pounds of fresh coffee had to be placed in the larders.

All told, a special train of eight cars, carrying 350 tons of food-stuffs, was required to open this remarkable edifice. And all of this had to be rushed in at the last moment, for at the opening banquet the new dining rooms were almost full.

A staff of 425 men and women, including three managers, had to be on hand a week before its opening. These employees have a building water, a restaurant and a ballroom.

The new Chateau Lake Louise has 400 rooms with bath, all outside are telegraph and cable offices in the rotunda, and each bed-room contains a phone which can be connected with long distance.

A resident doctor and trained nurse will have offices in the building built for the needs, nurses and younger children of the guests.

Chateau Lake Louise is now said to be the largest and most modern equipped chalet in the world.
